

Benjamin Noriega-Ortiz

A hotel, Vieques, Puerto Rico

BENJAMIN NORIEGA-ORTIZ

“The materials, inspired by the natural Puerto Rican surroundings, bring the outside in. A custom sequined material on the ceiling fixtures provides movement and sparkle, like light dancing off the sea. The terrazzo flooring and custom colored concrete matches the local sand, allowing the exterior to flow seamlessly into the space. The chairs are both reductive and sublime—they have a modest beauty. The onyx, placed atop lighted acrylic cube tables, is magical.”

See page 142 for sources.

